If the name of "Fire Fiend" is legitimate the title to apply to the invisible power that is now stalking through the land. This decade has been marked as more notable in the way of great fires than any previous period in the hisby that in Baltimore, and to-day two more are recorded. Portland, Maine, scarcely rebuilt after the terrible devastation of a few years ago, suffers again to the extent of half a million dollars, and Norfolk, Va., has had a fire which, though a minor affair compared to the great conflagrations above noted, would in ordinary times pass as a serious one, involving as it does a loss of some $150,000 in the business stem of incendiarism by members of some ecret association. No definite facts, however ave been brought forward to prove this asserpears to have been the case in Baltimore yeserday. In Norfolk a desperate attempt seems to have been made to start an incendiary con-

The good work goes bravely on. Dog-infested mmunities all over the country rise to call Mr. Caleb Cushing blessed for pointing out the way to relief from the sleep-destroying nuisance. The Baltimore American, for instance, while recognizing the valuable services, Mr. Cushing has rendered his country as a lawyer, anything that should so thoroughly entitle him he procured from a Washington court the imat night." And now the anxious inquiry is mad if Mr. Cushing knows any law that will meet the case of cats. To be sure cats pay no license, and do not seem to be reckoned as property in the sense that dogs are; but as a sleep-killing nuisance they are pretty nearly as bad as the canines, and if Mr. Cushing, who knows something of everything, can indicate how caterwauling can be legally abated, then indeed will nade to wreck a railroad train, this time in In diana. The engineer discovered a pile of burning rails on the track, but luckily in time to villain was captured, and the only excuse he gave for his diabolism was that an engine had t fire to his fence, and that he took that method of obtaining revenge. The reader will spot. Quite the reverse. The dispatch states extraordinary part of the proceeding. That a person who confessed to having made an at-tempt to wreck a train, thus imperiling the ves of hundreds of persons, should have been treated so leniently is wholly inexplicable. The probability is that the officer who exacted such insufficient bail is too much of an ignoramus to comprehend the enormity of the offence, and does not understand the difference between common assault and battery and attempted

The New York papers generally commend the board of health for its action in demolishing the filthy, rickety Washington market in that city, on the ground that the public health marketmen have brought large numbers of suits against the board for damages, and the Evening Post very justly says that the rights of an indi vidual cannot stand against the rights of the community, since the rights of the latter exi-ted from the beginning, and, however long they may be held in a evance, cannot be de-

The Chicago Tobune says the tenor and drift of ex-Senator Yates' Fourth of July oration at Griggsville, Illinois, was that although he may have had the "jim-jams," he never had the "grabs," like the Credit Mobilier statesmen. When last in Washington, he said, these parties looked down upon him in contempt, or if they took any notice of him it was to make an ostentatious display of their Christian zeal for his reformation. The Tribune remarks that it was rather severe upon his old official associates for him to call attention to the fact that, while perhaps their hands did not shake, they were not so clean as his own.

A proposed new motive power for street cars is suggested, in the way of a water tank holding about three hundred gallons of water. The latter is heated at the beginning of each trip by connecting it with a stationary steam boiler, sufficiently to enable the car to travel nine miles. The driver has only to turn a faucet to stop the car, and to start he simply opens it. The Philadelphia Age commends it Gov. Noyes, of Ohio, has written a letter in hich he says that the question as to who shall be the next United States Senator from Ohio, in case the republicans carry the state this fall, ought to be carefully excluded from consideration in the political campaign now pending.

Admirers of mansard roofs can take heart of grace again. It wasn't the "fire-trap invention" that caused or spread the fire in Baltimore

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT, Office of Casef Signal Officer.

Synopsis for the past twenty-four hours.—
The barometer has risen since Friday morning over the lake region and the northwest. It has fallen, but is again rising, on the middle Atlantic coast. The temperature has risen somewhat in the southern states, but has fallen decidediy in the northwest and over the Ohio valley. Southerly winds, with partly cloudy weather, are now reporter in the southern and gulf states. Southwesterly winds, increasing to brisk, with clear weather, prevail on the middle and east Atlantic coasts. Southwest and northwest winds, with cloudy weather, prevail over the Ohio valley and the lower lakes, where numer ones is call rains have fallen. Northwest winds and clear or partly clear weather apparently prevail over the upper lakes and the northwest.

Probabilities.—During the rest of Saturday, for the western gulf states, northwest and southwest winds, partly cloudy and clearing weather, with rain en the gulf coast. For the eastern gulf and south Atlantic states, south and southwest winds and generally clear or hazy weather, with possibly i cal rains on the immediate coasts. For the middle Atlantic states and the Ohio valley, southwest winds, veering to northwest, lower temperature and occasional local storms, fellowed by generally clear weather by Saturday night. For New York and New England, southerly winds, veering to westerly and increasing to brisk, increasing cloudiness and threatening weather, with numerous local storms. For the lower lakes and the northwest, rising barometer, no thwesterly winds and generally clear weather. Morning telegraphic reports are very generally missing from Lakes Erie and Michigan and the extreme northwest.
